Colorado Water Congress: Cancellation, Rejoin & Downgrade Policy

Created October 2026

Former Organizational Level Members are banned from qualifying as New Organizational Level Members for (12 months) post cancellation.

If former Organizational Level Members want to rejoin prior to (the 12 months cool-off period), they may rejoin at the same dues amount as when they left.

Cancellation of an Organizational Level Membership results in loss of legacy pricing.

If any organization deemed formally or informally, a Sustaining Member, which requests to cancel their membership, the CWC Executive Committee must be informed and if the same organization submits to rejoin, whether inside or outside the cool-off period, the newly established membership dues for that Sustaining Membership shall be set by the CWC Board.

Committee Level Members that downgrade to Associate Level are not eligible to do so at the New Associate Member price. Any Committee Level Organizational Member which downgrades to Associate Level, will do so with the inclusion of the renewal interest accumulated at Committee Level, applied instead to Associate Level, for the period available within 3-5 years of prior renewals.
